PRESS EVENT IN PARIS

On Thursday 11 January, Roche Bobois showcased the Palatine collection, its latest collaboration with French designer Christophe Delcourt, to the press. And so, in a typically Parisian apartment near the Place des Vosges, journalists from the French and international press got to see a sneak preview of the collection's various elements. Based on the interaction between wood and stone, the Palatine dining table and sideboard elegantly combine walnut with travertine. With these two pieces, it is as if Christophe Delcourt has hewn the materials from the block, leaving them polished by time. The settee and armchair are complementary pieces in the same vein. Made from wool and alpaca, the new bouclette fabric enhances the plush feel of this generously inviting model.

ROCHE BOBOIS AWARDED FOUR PRIZES AT THE FRENCH DESIGN 100 EVENT

The French Design 100 awards acknowledge the 100 best object and spatial design projects that promote French creativity worldwide. This prize honours the association of interior designers or architects and manufacturers like Roche Bobois, who embody the intrinsic values of French design: creativity, sustainable innovation, expertise and a certain flair. The FD100 awards ceremony took place on 19 January in Paris at the Maison & Objet international trade fair.

A number of Roche Bobois creations received awards at this event: the Calligraphie desk, designed by Julien Vidame; the Rio Ipanema collection, designed by Bruno Moinard; the Cinecitta lamp, designed by Fabrice Berrux; and the Corail dining table, in 3D printed concrete, designed by Antoine Fritsch and Vivien Durisotti.

These four prizes underscore the quality and diversity of their respective creations, made possible thanks to the close collaboration between Roche Bobois and talented designers.
